In conjunction with the

5th European Joint Conferences on Theory and Practice of Software (ETAPS 2002), Grenoble, France, April 6 - 14, 2002

Workshop Description

Semantics preservation is the commonly accepted minimum requirement to be ensured by compilers. It provides the basis for compiler verification and optimization, and is the source of complex mutual dependencies between these fields. The aim of the workshop is to bring together researchers and practitioners working on optimizing and verifying compilation, programming language design and semantics in order to investigate the mutual impact of these fields on each other, and to stimulate synergies between the communities.

Invited Speaker

The keynote speech will be given by Gerhard Goos, University of Karlsruhe, Germany.

Submission Information and Proceedings

Papers should be submitted electronically in standard Postscript or PDF to Jens Knoop (`knoop@ls5.cs.uni-dortmund.de`). Submitted papers should not exceed 15 pages, and must be unpublished and not submitted for publication elsewhere (see the Web page for full information). Printed Preliminary Proceedings will be available at the Workshop. The Final Proceedings of accepted papers will be published in the Electronic Notes in Theoretical Computer Science (ENTCS) series, Elsevier Science, Amsterdam, The Netherlands (`http://www.elsevier.nl/gej-ng/31/29/23/show/Products/notes/index.htt`). Authors of accepted papers will also be invited to submit revised, extended versions of their paper for a special issue of the Electronic J.UCS Journal of Universal Computer Science, Springer-Verlag, Heidelberg, Germany (`http://www.jucs.org`). These will pass through a second round of peer-reviewing.
